WHO ARE YOUR BENEFICIARIES?

It is very important to clearly indicate your primary beneficiary (ies) and contingent beneficiary (ies). Proceeds are paid to contingent beneficiary (ies) only if there is no surviving primary beneficiary (ies). If multiple primary beneficiaries or contingent beneficiaries are named and no percentage distribution is noted, then any proceeds payable to such beneficiaries will be split equally. If more space is needed to list your beneficiaries please attach a sheet to this form. The beneficiary (ies) named on this form will be valid for all basic, optional, and/or voluntary group term life and AD&D coverages unless otherwise indicated by you. The beneficiary designation may not go into effect until this form is signed and dated by you. Page 2 of this form includes examples of how to complete this form.

1. At the top of the form fill in the information regarding your employer and yourself.
2. Next complete the information regarding who will be your primary and contingent beneficiaries. A primary beneficiary will be the person/people that you want to receive the life insurance benefit. The contingent beneficiary or beneficiaries will only receive the life insurance benefit if the primary beneficiary (ies) is no longer living. Indicate the percentage of the benefit amount that the beneficiary will receive. Do not use dollar amounts. Percentages must add up to 100%.
3. Sign and date the form.

Below is an example of how to complete the beneficiary designations:

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Should I name a minor child as a beneficiary?

You may name a minor child as a beneficiary, however please be aware that we cannot make payment of a claim directly to a minor. If a claim is incurred we would need to make payment to the guardian of the minor's financial estate.

How would I name a Charitable Organization as beneficiary?

A charitable organization that is not your employer may be named as a beneficiary. You will need to indicate the name of the charitable organization, a contact for the organization, their tax identification number, and the percentage of the benefit that would be payable to them.

How do I name my Estate as the beneficiary?

You may name your estate as a beneficiary. To name your estate as the beneficiary indicate "My Estate" as the beneficiary. If you know who will be the executor or administrator of your estate you should also include that person's name. For example: My Estate, John Doe Executor.

How do I name a Trust as the beneficiary?

You may designate a trust as a beneficiary. To name a trust as a beneficiary, indicate Trustee (show Name and address) under Trust Agreement Dated (show date). If the trust has a tax identification number that will need to be supplied in place of the social security number. For example: Jack Doe Irrevocable Trust, Jill Doe TTEE UTA 1/1/04.
